

EAST TEBRON.
Arthur L. Bonney has changed his intended journey and will start the first day of June for Colorado instead of Oregon as he first intended. Mr. Perry of Mechanic Falls for whom he has worked will accompany him. Many fears are expressed by his friends that he will not live to arrive at his desired place of resort, his health is so feeble.
Henry Berry, wife, and little granddaughter left for Minneapolis Tuesday, to visit their daughter, Mrs. Herbert Howard and Mrs. B's brother, John Ricker. They intend to return the last of this month.
A. M. Fogg and wife will work for Willie Berry during his parent's absence. Fred Roder from New York is boarding with N. A. Record. His physician recommends country air as his health is failing quite rapidly.
A large crowd of people gathered at the Roundabout bridge on Twenty Miles road to witness the baptism of 15 young people of this place on last Sabbath.
Hiram Conant and J. Deuster have been raising and replacing the underpinning of A. B. Robinson's stable.
Jere Allen's health is improving, and hopes of his speedy recovery are now entertained.
Geo. F. McConney is visiting at his grandfather's. He has been sick for some time but is some better now.

Allie and Frank Fuller are expected to start from Vinland on this week.
Weather changes in one hour from hot to cold this season.
A young man in this place who does not live with his wife went to Russell and bought a pig which jumped out from the wagon causing the driver a sharp hunt until a man saw him (the pig, I mean) in some bushes by the roadside. The said young man captured the pig and started home. When he reached Fuller's store, he took the pig out and tied the chain that contained the pig to the piazza and went up stairs to chat a few moments, and when he came down his pig could not be found, when after hunting a long time, he sang out, "My wife an old cut left on and now I can't keep pig." Imagine his surprise on reaching home to find the pig in his pen.

EAST STONEHAM.
Memorial Day was observed here by co. F. Leppien Post No. 135, G. A. R. led by Camp Richardson Sons of Veterans. The Memorial address was delivered by Judge C. F. Whitman of Norway and was pronounced appropriate to the occasion, giving general satisfaction. In behalf of the Sons of Veterans Thomas Watkins, Jr., delivered a brief address, which was considered remarkably fine for a lad of his age (about 14 years.) The music by North Waterford Band. The day fell continually during the afternoon making it impossible to fully carry out the programme previously arranged of marching in procession, a few veterans being intended to decorate with flags.
Robert Smith is very low at the present writing and is not expected to recover. He is an elderly gentleman and has been in poor health for several years. His daughters have been summoned home.
Anne Williams is very sick indeed with a lung trouble. Having taken a violent cold she was threatened with pneumonia and for several nights has been unable to lie down or get any rest.
Jonathan Bartlett has been putting up sheds in the old Evans store, formerly occupied by H. H. Tibbets. Mr. Bartlett intends to trade in such articles as he usually sold in country stores. The store has been newly shingled and some other repairs made inside. One of Mr. Bartlett's sons will wait upon customers.
William Goodwin was in town Monday get the rest of his goods, which he was obliged to leave at the time of moving in the spring on account of the bad travelling. He says he has all the work he can do at Bamford and that his health improved since moving there.
Mr. and Mrs. Loren McKen went to Bamford to visit their children a few days since.
E. B. Russell's cow that was so sick recently has recovered and is doing well.
